Lest We Forget

The Royal Canadian Legion MANITOBA & NORTHWESTERN ONTARIO COMMAND

A Message from the President

June 6, 2019 marked the 75th Anniversary of D-Day. The beginning of the end. On June 6, 1944 the world saw the beginning of the largest assault in history land on the Normandy beaches. Of the 156,000 troops to storm ashore that day, 14,000 were Canadian at Juno Beach. That day 359 Canadians were killed, 574 wounded and 47 captured. Every day we should remember those who went ashore on that historic day, some who never returned and those who did.

Next year we will celebrate 75 years since V-E Day. We Will Remember Them.

This is the 10th edition of the Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario Command, Military Service Recognition Book. It is intended as a tribute to all those who served or are serving. We recognize that without their sacrifice we would be unable to enjoy the freedoms that we now cherish. The stories in this book play a small part in our acknowledgement of their service.

To all of you that submitted articles, Thank You. To all of you who support our advertisers, Thank You. To all of you who donated to our telephone appeal, Thank You.

Proceeds realized from this publication are used to fund various Legion programs and for that we Thank You all.

A Message from the Publisher

Fenety Marketing is very proud of its participation in the publication of The Royal Canadian Legion – Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario Command's Annual Military Service Recognition Book. This is the 10th edition in the series devoted to recognizing Military and RCMP Members throughout Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario.

It is an honour to work with The Royal Canadian Legion on this historic series of books of remembrance, which commemorate the brave and faithful service of our Veterans, our heroes. We honour them all for their contributions and sacrifices which shaped our great country.

I would like to thank the citizens and business owners of Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario who have supported this very worthwhile project of The Royal Canadian Legion, as it is their support that makes this legacy of The Royal Canadian Legion possible.

Lest We Forget

Bravely Met

It began at dawn with weapons drawn, as battles often do. A tot of rum, the prayers done, it's time to see it through.

The whistles blow and off they go, hoping to fight well. Side by side with fear and pride they charged out into Hell.

It's quiet now among the crosses in pristine rows that mark our losses. Belying the horror of that long past dawn, Where they stood with weapons drawn.

Past whispers of the silent prayers of all our soldiers everywhere, ask only that we not forget the battles past, so bravely met.

Brief History of the Belgian Veterans' Association, Branch 107

The Belgian Veterans' Association, Branch 107 originated on February 12, 1920. The Belgian Club has always been our home. The Branch was originally known as the British Empire Service League. On April 10, 1933 the name was changed to Belgian Veterans' Association with the first President Comrade Cornelius De Steene, Jules DeCruyenaere as Secretary with a membership of 10 Comrades. The membership reached 100 in 1930 with Julien Buysse as President. A Ladies Auxiliary was formed in 1926 and discontinued in 1964.

In October 1937 under the chairmanship of then President Louis Nobel a fundraising committee was formed to erect a monument known as Albert Place. This monument was erected in front of the Belgian Club by sculptor Hubert Garnier. The models depicting the two Belgian soldiers were Jules DeCruyenaere (lying down) and Julien Buysse (standing) both deceased now. The monument is the only one depicting a fallen soldier. In April 1995, the monument was officially declared historical war memorial by the City of Winnipeg.

During World War II most members rejoined the Canadian or Belgian forces. The Ladies Auxiliary provided many comfort parcels to the Comrades overseas. Upon cessation of the War, the branch was very active with the return of many servicemen. Much credit goes to Louis Speliers for the resurgence of our branch to its present membership of 145. The branch accomplishment and contribution to The Royal Canadian Legion can best be exemplified by two of our Comrades, Father Leo Baert and Louis Speliers.

The branch has also been honoured by two Comrades, Joe Beock, Paul Deprez and our present Belgian Consul Jean-Marie DeClercq. And to finish we can say that all the founding and charter members, and all the members today, and those that are gone have contributed to make The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 107 as it is today with over a hundred members and we are working to further the aims and objectives of this great organization.

The Camerons were posted in "Pathworth Park" an estate in England near Worthing.

They did a lot of battle drill training and were always cold and wet. Rosario and his buddy Milton Needolin were smaller in stature than average so they were called "Short Asses" and decided there should be an easier job in this man's army than crawling in muddy ditches doing battle drill, so they applied for a signallers course which they graduated with flying colours. They stayed at signal school and escaped battle drill at least three months before being called back to the Camerons. When they went on their first scheme, they found out that signaller was not that easy because they had to carry an extra eighteen pounds, besides their normal equipment. They had many a good time too, going on leave and seeing the British Isles. Edinburgh, Scotland was their favorite city. They completed training at Broome Park near Canterbury.

On July 3, 1944, they took off to Caen, France which was their first baptismal of battle at Fontenay le Marion. On August 8 they were dug in, in an orchard. By the time the battle was over there were no branches left on the apple trees.

Rosario was wounded at the "Moaning Minnie Barrage" by the enemy, that area was known as the Falaise Gap. On August 18, they broke through the Gap and had the Jerries on the run with some resistance from the rear guards at Roven and crossing the Somme River, from there to Belgium. They travelled until they had some hard fighting in Brasschat and were stopped at "Mook" on November 9 and were held there until February 13, 1945. In an attempt to break through the enemy strong-hold the SSR were making a night raid. Rosario's buddy Milt had to maintain telephone communication between the leading troop and HQ. Milt got wounded while laying telephone lines which earned him a military medal. After the Allies decided to make the big move, the Germans blew up the dykes and flooded the Reichswald Forest. It was very slow going, all the heavy equipment was getting stuck and blocking the roads. On the April 14 they lost their Colonel. There were many concrete "Pill Boxes" to contend with which also slowed them.

On May 3, 1945 they reached Oldenburg and were organizing for another attack when they got word on May 6 that the war was over. Rosario and Milt spent most of this summer in Amsterdam, Holland waiting to get repatriated. In October they got moved to Aldershot, England. In November they boarded the Queen Elizabeth and were home by the end of the month.

He served in Canada, United Kingdom, France, Belgium and Holland with the Lake Superior Regiment. While in Europe, Bruce was wounded and was listed as "missing in action" for a month. The following is an excerpt from a letter to Bruce's mother from his company commander. "On March the 2nd, 1945 Bruce's unit had been given the task of capturing some 'high ground' just southeast of the Hoschwald Forest (Germany). The attack was successful but before the infantry could get up to help them the Germans counter attacked and captured some of the forward positions. The ground was retaken shortly but Bruce was missing. He had stepped on a land mine, and was wounded in both legs. The Germans took the wounded to a hospital and they remained there until they were liberated, sometime in April, and taken to England. During this time, Bruce was a Prisoner of War." HALLETT, Leslie Wilbert "Slim" "Les"

WWII

Leslie enlisted in the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders Regiment of Canada on June 25, 1940 at No. 10 District Depot, Fort Osborne Barracks, Winnipeg, Manitoba. He served in Canada, the United Kingdom, and Continental Europe.

He received the following Medals: the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, the France and Germany Star, the Defence Medal and 1939-1945 Star.

After training for a few months at Fort Osborne Barracks, volunteers were called to travel through the United States to Galveston, Texas, to transport 300 mules overseas to Britain. Les was one of the volunteers. At this time the United States was not at war and the volunteers became Americans. When the ship docked in Halifax the boys believed they would go on leave, however they were disappointed as they were confined to the ship as they were still Americans.

They travelled overseas in a convoy by way of Greenland and Iceland.

The ship was old and it did not take long before it became separated from the convoy. The Atlantic Ocean was very rough with continuous dense fog. Days on end they were plagued by German submarines. After thirty days, they docked at Liverpool, England and the boys were glad to see the end of the mules.

Les trained in England (Folkstone) then instructed small arms and later instructed physical Training. Eventually in 1942, after several cancellations Les went over to France on the Dieppe Raid. When the raid was over the soldiers on the beach were trying to get into the little boats. When Les tried to get in the tailgate was closed and thanks to two soldiers Les was pulled into the boat.

Later he went through France, Holland, Belgium and Germany. At one point there was a house on a hill to be taken. Here Les caught a stray bullet in his face. He was invalided back to England (Basingstoke) where he spent many months in the hospital including many operations and needles. Later he became an outpatient and toured England and Scotland.

Upon arriving back in Winnipeg, he spent some time in Deer Lodge Hospital and was discharged from Fort Osborne Barracks on November 1, 1945. Les passed away on November 24, 1979 and is buried in Fisherton Cemetery, Fisher Branch, Manitoba.

We will remember those who have served and we are thankful to those who now serve.

Council, Staff and Citizens of the Town of Minnedosa

HIGHFIELD, Ron R. C.

WWII

Ron was born in Gilbert Plains in 1925. He enlisted in the Army and served during World War II.

He lived and breathed The Royal Canadian Legion. He was volunteering for any construction. He was very much a part of the conventions when he and his wife went to Ottawa for all district Presidents when his uniform and medals went missing. Two days later, a new uniform and medals turned up in Ottawa with apologies at which time all the Presidents and wives went on a cruise and dined with Prince Philip.

After the cruise and dinner, he came home and all he could talk about was how impressed he was with Prince Philip and how knowledgeable he was about The Legion.

Ron joined Flin Flon Branch 73 in 1951, was Branch Executive from 1952 to 1958, Branch Second Vice President from 1959 to 1960, Branch First

Vice President from 1961 to 1962; Branch President, District Secretary #1 North from 1963 to 1964; Branch Past President District Secretary #1 North from 1965 to 1966; District Secretary District #1 North from 1967 to 1968; District Commander District #1 North from 1970; District Commander District #1 North from 1971 to 1972; Vice Chairman, M&NW Ontario, Command from 1971 to 1972; 3rd Vice President from 1975 to 1976; 1st Vice President from 1977 to 1978 and President from 1979 to 1980.

He was Chairman of Branch 73 Housing Committee from 1982 to 1983; President of Branch 73 Housing Corporation from 1983 to 1986; Manager and maintenance, Jubilee Residence from 1983 to 1986.

When they signed up, they were told to drop the 'e' from Hille so they would sound more English. If the Nazis caught them, they would be shot on the spot for being a "traitor to the Father Land". He started training on January 13, 1940 and sailed for England in May. In England, they continued their training and he was promoted on June 1, 1943. He was sent to Sicily on July 22, 1943 and just four days later he was shot dead taking the town of Agira. Harold was reported missing on July 4, 1944. On August 7, 1945, a local woman reported a burnt out plane and seven or eight bodies in a field between Autheuil and La Chapelle-du-Noyer. KNIGHT, Albert James "Tim"

WWII

Tim was born on a farm near Clearwater, Manitoba on November 10, 1917. He worked on the farm prior to enlisting in the RCAF on November 21, 1941 in Winnipeg. Tim started basic training in Lachine, Quebec, basic aeronautics in Belleville, Ontario as well as training in a Tiger Moth in Windsor Mill, Quebec. He graduated as a Pilot in Moncton, New Brunswick in March 1943, sailing to Scotland in April on the Queen Elizabeth. Tim then went on to Bournemouth, England, which was a holding unit for Canadian Airmen. He flew Oxford aircraft at Church Lawford, England training in cross country and solo.

Tim was at a concert in London where Vera Lynn was singing when there was an air raid. No one could leave, so the airmen stayed and Tim had a dance with Vera. He was part of 433 Porcupine Squadron at Skipton-on-Swale, England for some of the war.

Tim was staff pilot on the Isle of Man, flying aircraft to train student

One memorable occasion Tim recalled was in the evening of May 7, 1945 when he was on a flight to an area off the coast of Norway to lay mines. His Lancaster aircraft had six tons of mines and 2,000 gallons of fuel. Tim just got off the ground when it came over the radio that the war was over. He flew over the North Sea along England for five and a half hours to burn enough fuel for a safe landing. What Tim noticed as he flew were lights coming on in the towns and farms as the English people slowly realized the blackout was over, after more than five years of war. It was "like England was waking up after five years of complete blackouts", "just like coming back to life again". Tim also volunteered for Japan after getting back to Canada, but the war ended. He left the Air Force after the war and farmed for ten years, rejoining as an LAC at the age of 36. Tim was stationed in France for four years as part of NATO after he rejoined. Tim passed away in Portage la Prairie, Manitoba on December 22, 2006.

"The only unfortunate thing that happened to me, I had an accident with my motorcycle while on duty and ended up in the hospital for about three weeks." John's medal decorations/awards in respect of services during the war were: the France and Germany Star, the Defence Medal and Clasp and the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp. He was discharged on January 21, 1946 and returned to civilian life. He married and has two sons and four grandchildren. He retired and lived in Arborg, Manitoba.

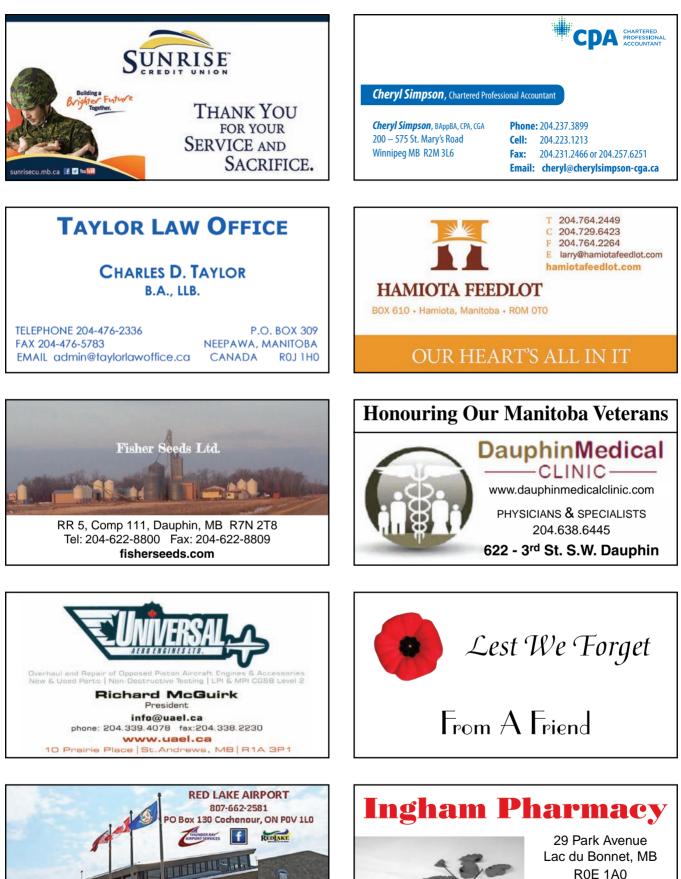

KRAWCHUK, Harry F.

WWII

Harry was born in Fisher Branch, Manitoba in 1918. He joined the Canadian Army on April 24, 1944. He took his basic training at Fort Osborne Barracks in Winnipeg. On August 2, 1944 he transferred to Camp Shilo, Manitoba to train as a paratrooper with the 1st Canadian Parachute Battalion. On October 18, 1944 he qualified as a trooper. Harry left Canada on December 25, 1944 on board the Martain for Ringway, England. He trained further at Ringway as the training he took at Shilo allowed 700 ft. drops only. The jumps they made in Europe were only 500 ft. The difference was that at a 500 ft. drop they could not use reserve chutes. Many troopers dropped out because of this difference. Harry parachuted across the Rhine and through Germany to Wismar. Harry lost many of his trooper friends and saw many wounded. Harry was never wounded but his war memories never left him. The war ended and on May 31, 1945 the Battalion received a send-off and two weeks later they left for Canada on the Île-de-France. The ship landed in Halifax and Harry left from there by train to Winnipeg and then home to Fisher Branch. He was discharged from the army on December 22, 1945.

While he was at the Mining Base he boarded out, as they did not live at the base. The day of the explosion he had just got back to his room about an hour and a half before the explosion and was lying on the bed when the first blast came. It blew the plaster off the ceiling and he ended up on the floor. Nestor's landlady, who had survived the first explosion in 1917, took off and they did not see her for three days. When they heard from her she was in Lunenburg, Nova Scotia.

On November 5, 1945 he was sent back to Winnipeg for discharge on November 25, 1945. He returned to Fisher Branch to farm, got married and had three children. They moved to Winnipeg in 1962 and Nestor worked for Canada Post Corp until his retirement in 1984.

O'KELLY, Christopher Patrick John WWI Port Arthur soldier did his part in France BY TORY TRONRUD

C.P.J. O'Kelly, right, can be seen here in the trenches of France in 1917. For bravery, while fighting for our own 52nd (New Ontario) Battalion at the Battle of Passchendaele, he was awarded the Victoria Cross, the highest military honour.

The official citation in the honours and awards book of the 52nd (New Ontario) Battalion, dated October 26, 1917, states the facts with blunt directness:

"Captain O'Kelly led his company with extraordinary skill and determination while advancing over 1,000 yards against the enemy under heavy fire without any artillery barrage. He took the enemy positions on a hill by storm and then personally organized and led a series of attacks against machine gun pill boxes."

"His company alone captured 10 machine guns and more than 100 prisoners. Later under the leadership of this gallant officer, his company repelled a strong counter attack, taking more prisoners."

"That night his company captured a hostile raiding party consisting of one officer and 10 men and a machine gun."

The entry refers to his bravery in action near Passchendaele that day. An adjoining column in the book states that he received the Victoria Cross for his actions, the highest military honour a soldier of this country can receive.

Military Service Recognition Book Volume 10

Christopher Patrick John O'Kelly was born in Winnipeg in 1896 and was an undergraduate at St. John's College in that city, when he signed up for service in 1916 with the 144th Battalion. When that unit was placed on reserves, Lieutenant O'Kelly was transferred to the 52nd in early 1917, reaching the front in France in March of that year. The allied objective in the autumn 1917 offensive was to capture Passchendaele Ridge, but it was not an easy campaign. The weather was against them - it rained almost incessantly turning the battlefields into mire. Trenches were washed out and shell holes became deep pools ready to drown a sodden soldier.

The battle lines were formed early in the morning of October 26 in preparation for the main attack, but unfortunately it was raining both water and shells from German artillery; enemy planes had spotted them some fifteen minutes before the advance commenced.

The Canadians were expected to take Bellevue Spur. In the cellars of the town of Bellevue, whose inhabitants had long since gone, German machine gun emplacements guarded the town, and nearby roads were littered with enemy pillboxes. The 52nd were not in the forefront of the initial siege but when the attack bogged down, the battalion was called into action.

A small group of Canadians from the 58th Battalion were entrenched on the crest of the spur where they had been holding out for four hours. Lt. O'Kelly, commanding 'A' Company of the 52nd, went to their assistance. Covered by the nearby 43rd Battalion, O'Kelly's men advanced over a kilometer through enemy fire before outflanking and scattering the German forces.

He then turned his attention to the pillboxes rushing box after box with remarkable success. His precision and battle skills were unerring.

His success allowed the Canadian line to advance forcing the enemy into retreat.

Considerable ground was gained before the Germans reformed and counterattacked the now thin Canadian line.

O'Kelly defended that line, repelled the attack, and then led his troops in a series of raids against German strong points, paving the way for the next stage of the battle.

O'Kelly, promoted to captain, continued with the 52nd until 1919 when he rejoined the Winnipeg Rifles.

O'Kelly died young. In November 1922, five days short of his 26th birthday, while prospecting south of Red Lake, he and a friend were drowned in a storm on Lac Seul.

His friend's body was discovered on the shore - he had died of exposure - O'Kelly's body was never discovered.

On nearby Goose Bay Island, a cross in his memory was erected by his fellow officers of the Winnipeg Rifles. On it, a plaque read, in part, "Ye who pass this way are asked to care for this monument."

A Cairn erected by the Ear Falls branch of the Legion now stands near the spot.

Christopher Patrick John O'Kelly's Victoria Cross and his Military Cross were later donated to the National Museum in Ottawa where they reside today.

A new book about Thunder Bay and the First World War, recounting the experiences of those from the Lakehead who served either in uniform or on the home front was recently launched and is now available at the Thunder Bay Museum.

Looking Back is written weekly by one of various writers for the Thunder Bay Museum. For further information visit the museum at 425 Donald St. E., or view its website at www.thunderbaymuseum.com.

WALLACE, James Alexander

WWI & WWII

BOER WAR

James was born in Scotland in 1879. While guite young, his mother died and because his father was a Merchant Sailor, he and his two brothers went to live with their aunts and uncles in Fern Cottage. With all his family being sailors, it was quite strange that he was chronically seasick if he went onboard the seas. When aged twenty, he signed up with the Seaforth Highlanders (Army) and Private Wallace sailed to South Africa. They would march for days then dive for cover when ambushed then back in the sand marching on with their kilts on, the wind-blown sand would cut up their knees. After a year, he was sailing home with three campaign Bars to his Queen's South Africa Medal. Back home he soon realized he wanted a different life, so it was back on the ship and across the ocean to Canada, MacDonald, Manitoba. It had a good Scottish name and was as far away from any sea as he could get. He recalled a typical meal was boiled mutton, potatoes in their skins, boiled onions, a wedge of plum pudding in a tin and a flat beer to wash it all down. James passed away in 1970.
