Military Service Recognition Book

On June 4, 2022 Roblin Branch #24 of the Royal Canadian Legion held a Rededication Ceremony of their Cenotaph.

Seven fallen soldiers' names were added to the Cenotaph, all of them with ties to the area, the first time there has been any update done to the Cenotaph since World War II.

This project was many years in the making. It originated when a former MP of the area released a book naming fallen soldiers in different areas. A number of local Legion members compared the names from this book to the Cenotaph and found that some were missing. A plea went out through local media to any family members who were aware of any additional names and/or information that would help in collecting and confirming accuracy of data.

Lest We Forget

Bravely Met

It began at dawn with weapons drawn, as battles often do. A tot of rum, the prayers done, it's time to see it through.

The whistles blow and off they go, hoping to fight well. Side by side with fear and pride they charged out into Hell.

It's quiet now among the crosses in pristine rows that mark our losses. Belying the horror of that long past dawn, Where they stood with weapons drawn.

Past whispers of the silent prayers of all our soldiers everywhere, ask only that we not forget the battles past, so bravely met.

H.A. SANDE

Our Command was pleased that one of our entries for the National Literary Contest was chosen.

Emily Folkerts, a student from Immanuel Christian School and submitted by Transcona Branch 7 in Winnipeg placed 2nd in the Intermediate category for the Essay Contest. Congratulations Emily.

"They are our reason." The words rang in the grandmother's ears as if she had heard them only seconds ago. She glanced down at her young grandson standing next to her. The grandmother smiled wistfully, her mind full of memories.

"They are our reason." The little girl could just barely hear her father whisper these words as he hugged her goodbye. It was 1939, and the young father was boarding the train to fight as a soldier. He kissed his baby son, then his wife, and headed to the train. The girl watched her father disappear from sight, the words ringing in her ears. "They are our reason."

When Canada announced that they were heading to war, men signed up to go across the seas and help their allies. Some of them were fathers, husbands, and others were just barely adults, leaving behind their brothers, sisters, and parents. Everyone was leaving someone precious to them. It was those they loved that was the reason for them leaving. They needed to do all that they could to protect their loved ones. Many children, such as this young girl, knew that their fathers were out there, fighting for them, their family, and their country.

The little girl grew as the years blew by. Her memory of her father was faded, but one thing rang true. His last words filled her head. "They are our reason." She tried to understand this, tried to see the importance of what he had said. But her little mind could not yet comprehend what he meant. All she knew was that her father had left to fight. So she never gave up praying for him.

It was 1945, just after the war had passed. The girl was now nine years old. Her father returned three weeks after the war's end. A few days after her father had returned home, she leaned against him, gave him a hug, and asked a question that had been on her mind for years. "Father, before you left, you whispered in my ear, 'They are our reason.' What did you mean?" He smiled, and told her, "It's hard to understand. But it was what my mind was telling me. I wasn't fighting for glory, nor for power, it was for the future of our country, and what we had left behind. That was the reason we left."

The grandson stood proudly next to his family in the rows of chairs, admiring his red poppy. He watched the veterans walk by, listened to the band playing, and tried to understand the stories read by the people that walked to the stage. He leaned over to his grandmother, "Why, Grandma? Why do we talk about soldiers? Why do we remember something from so long ago?" The grandma smiled as she thought of the line her father once whispered, and motioning towards the surrounding veterans, told her grandson. "They are our reason."

BLACKWOOD, Robert Russell "Bob"

WWI

Robert Blackwood was born in 1888 in Straiton Village, Scotland, third child of nine, to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Blackwood Sr. Bob emigrated to Canada at the age of eighteen. He farmed for a while with his brother Hugh in the Basswood area. He joined the 5th Battalion in the fall of 1914 when they were recruiting in Minnedosa, under Major Hugh Dyer. By 1915, he was overseas, and after a tour of duty in France, spent leave with his family in Straiton Village, Scotland. It was there that he met his future wife, Helen Lees Stewart Richmond, commonly known as Nellie.

Bob was wounded in action in 1916 and lost his left arm. He was hospitalized in Glasgow and later returned to Canada by hospital ship. After many months of treatment in Toronto, Bob returned to his farm and received an honourable discharge on March 9, 1918. Plans were made for Nellie to join him in Canada, and she arrived with other war brides and returning soldiers in February 1919. Bob met her in Winnipeg, and they were married there on February 20, 1919.

Their first farm home was southwest of Basswood, but they later moved back to the farm where Bob had begun, north of Basswood. They ran a mixed farm of grain and cattle, and even with his handicap, he managed most tasks very well. He enjoyed soccer and hockey and was a very keen curler.

Bob and Nellie were blessed with a son, James Richmond, on May 15, 1922. When World War II began, James joined the Royal Canadian Air Force as a pilot on July 14, 1941. He was killed in an air crash accident at #14 Elementary Flying Training School, on October 25, 1941, at Portage la Prairie.

The Blackwood's last farming season was in 1949 when they retired into Basswood. Bob died on January 6, 1958. Nellie continued to live in Basswood until moving to Minnedosa Personal Care Home in Minnedosa in 1975. She passed away in October 1985. Both are buried in the Basswood Cemetery.

In June 1943, he was posted overseas to England and the continent with the 143 Wing Airfield Squadron. The one story foremost in his mind was going off the barge in Normandy in June 1944 on D-Day. He was discharged in January 1946. His family members have many fond memories of his remarkable life. He received the 1939-1945 Star, France and Germany Star, Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp and War Medal 1939-1945. BLAKE, David Robert "Dave"

WWII

Dave was born in Rapid City, Manitoba in 1925. He enlisted as air crew in the Royal Canadian Air Force in Winnipeg, in August 1943. He was first posted to Manning Depot in Edmonton, then sent to Vancouver to upgrade his education, moving then to #4 S.F.T.S. in Saskatoon where he waited to get posted for Initial Training School.

When an opening turned up, he was posted to I.T.S. in Edmonton where he took a three-month course for navigators, graduating as Leading Aircraftsman. Following this, Dave was posted to #1 Central Navigation School in Rivers, Manitoba. He graduated in October 1944, got his navigators wings and three hooks, and then his new promotion to Sgt. Navigator. He flew with Mark IV and V Ansons.

At this time, there seemed to be sufficient aircrew overseas, so he chose to return to his civilian job with the Royal Bank in Russell. Three months later, he was called back by the RCAF for service, but never saw action in Europe due to the end of the war in May 1945.

Dave and half of his crewmates volunteered for Pacific Duty. Brandon #12 S.F.T.S. had been converted into an Air Crew Conditioning Unit, so they went there to learn "jungle" training and judo, followed by more commando and survival training in Shilo. During this time, Japan had capitulated, and Dave was discharged in December 1945. His rank on discharge was Sgt. Navigator.

Dave then returned to RBC and met and married Gwen in Flin Flon in 1951. They had three girls and two boys and settled in Minnedosa before retiring in 1982. Gwen owned and operated Blake's Jewellers, and Dave pursued politics, serving the Minnedosa Constituency for seventeen years from 1971 to 1988 as Progressive Conservative MLA. Both Dave and Gwen were busy with local service groups, and Dave was President of The Royal Canadian Legion Minnedosa Branch 138 in 1995. He was a member of Gen. Hugh Dyer Branch 138 in Minnedosa for 49 years. Dave passed away in 2008.

He received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal, the War Medal 1939-1945, C.D. (Good Conduct Medal), and the Queen's Medal (awarded to members of the Legislature).

Thank you.

We are proud to support and honour the Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario Veterans who serve our country.

Amos was a member of Brandon Branch 3 of The Royal Canadian Legion for 25 years.

BRACKEN, John Maxwell "Max"

WWII

Max enlisted in the R.C.N.V.R. on June 4, 1942, at age 23. He was sent to Esquimalt, BC for training, as a Stoker Second Class. Max had married Ida Caroline Erlandson in 1941, and while he was stationed at Esquimalt, Ida was able to live in Victoria for a few months, allowing Max to "live out". The winter of 1942 was bitter cold, and as Ida wrote, "We must have been practising conservationists at that time as our only source of heat was through fireplaces and all we had to burn was paper and catalogues! (Maybe we couldn't afford coal and wood!!)"

Max was stationed in Sydney, NS in 1942 and served onboard many tugboats and ships. His active service began on July 2, 1942. From October 2, 1942, to October 11, 1942, he was on Divisional Strength back to HMCS Chippawa. Then on October 12, he was back on Active Service aboard Chippawa, Naden, Stadacona, Cornwallis and Protector.

On July 12, 1943, he was promoted to Stoker First Class. Listed on his Certificate of Service were the ships Stadacona, Protector and Peregrine. He was discharged on August 21, 1945, at HMCS Chippawa.

Ida writes, "Looking back it was okay being married to a sailor as long as I could be with him. But when he was at Halifax (at the time of the big explosion [July 18, 1945]), we were miles apart. I was at Virden. It was a very lonely time."

So, Max hung up his bell bottom trousers and after his discharge leave, he returned to his job with the C.P.R., which was his employer when he enlisted. He worked out of Minnedosa as Conductor, and after 39 years with the Company, he finally retired in 1978. Ida and Max had two children, a daughter Sally Ann and son James George. Max drove the handivan for several years and served on the Town Council for two terms. He enjoyed gardening and golfing. In winter he curled and played cards (he loved Rummy). He and Ida travelled, enjoying visits to see family members in BC. He was a member of The Royal Canadian Legion Gen. Hugh Dyer Branch 138 in Minnedosa. Max passed away on June 30, 1986.

Max received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and War Medal 1939-1945.

BRUGGER, Harvey Ernest

WWI

Harvey was born in Rookhurst District in 1901. He joined the Army in 1918, at the age of seventeen. Harvey left from Winnipeg by train to go to Halifax. He was bid farewell by Mae Funnell. Mae was also saying goodbye to her husband, William Funnell, who was leaving for overseas at the same time. Mae made the comment that Harvey was so young and looked so forlorn as he was leaving.

Harvey's unit was the Royal Winnipeg Rifles (nicknamed the Little Black Devils). He served in the Signal Corps, or in communications as it is better known today. After some months on the battlefield, Harvey was wounded by an exploding artillery shell. The shell literally buried three men. Harvey worked his way out, but the soldier underneath him had to be dug out. The men suffered from many pieces of shrapnel. Word was received back in Minnedosa that Harvey had been killed in action. Anna Sandstrom, who later became Harvey's wife, was six years old, and she remembered hearing the news from her brother, Eric Sandstrom. Anna did not know

Harvey at the time; however, her family knew him from the Rookhurst District where they lived.

Private Brugger recovered from his wounds at the St. Thomas Hospital in London, England. After some time, Harvey was on the battlefield again, where he was once again wounded, this time not as severely.

Harvey recalled that on one occasion he and a fellow soldier were running together when an enemy sniper opened fire and killed his partner. On other occasions, Harvey and comrades were sent out at night to set up razor wire. The enemy would shoot flares up into the night sky to try and locate enemy soldiers. This was a dangerous mission.

This brave veteran served the Army and his country well. Harvey returned in 1919 to Winnipeg and stayed in the Fort Garry Hotel, after which he returned to the Rookhurst District. He was honoured by his friends and family and given a gold watch. He was a member of The Royal Canadian Legion Gen. Hugh Dyer Branch 138 for 44 years.

Harvey and Anna Sandstrom married in 1934 and raised a family of four. They farmed seven miles south of Minnedosa. Harvey passed into glory in 1987.

He received the King George V 1914-1918 Medal, Great War for Civilization Medal 1914-1919, War Service Medal 1914-1919, two wound stripes and Medal "For Service at the Front".

BURTON, Galvin Noble

WWII

Galvin was born in Franklin, Manitoba in 1921. His call to join the Army came in January 1942, when he was 21 years old and, on the farm north of Franklin.

In Portage la Prairie, Galvin was put in with the Royal Canadian Fusiliers. A short time later, he switched over to the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps (later became the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers) and was posted to Seaforth Barracks at Burrard Inlet, BC, when they found he was mechanically inclined. Galvin's job there was maintenance and repair on army trucks, and general mechanical work. He also acted as truck driver instructor and took new recruits over to Sea Island (now Richmond).

For health reasons, he missed a posting to Kiska in the Aleutians. The Japanese had already gone; they pulled out when Galvin's outfit arrived. One time when he was stationed in Vernon BC, they were taken out on the parade square on a very hot and humid night in the middle of summer with full pack. Everything they owned was on their backs. They were taken on an all-night march, 23 miles! When the sun came up early next morning, they had gone as far as Kelowna on Lake Okanagan. The lake was so inviting, they were hot and tired, so they ditched their packs and clothes and jumped in. "That was the best swim I ever had in my entire life!" said Galvin.

In due course of time, their outfit was posted to Debert, NS, in preparation for overseas. When the train got as far as Kitchener, ON, about 25 of them were pulled off for a special assignment - to winterize vehicles, track vehicles called "weasels", to be tested way up north to see how they would start and perform under extremely cold weather conditions. This was Galvin's job at Kitchener for an entire month.

After he was finished with the "weasels", he was posted to Debert and was attached to another RCEME outfit. "The cockroaches at Debert were of a very healthy and sturdy variety. They were especially active when the lights were turned on. One good thing about the cockroaches was that they kept the lice pretty well under control!!"

Galvin was in Debert about a week or two, getting outfitted for overseas. He went over on the Mauritania; "rough as blazes but I wasn't seasick." Some of his friends were sick as soon as they got on the boat! The Mauritania sailed solo (no convoy) and kept on a zig-zag course for enemy u-boat avoidance. After seven days at sea, they docked at Liverpool on Christmas Eve, 1943. After they all piled off the ship, they were herded onto a train and taken to a camp Called Warrens Park, not far from Slough in the Aldershot area. This was the 1st Canadian Air Base Workshop. They worked on all kinds of motorized army vehicles - tanks, trucks, motorcycles, every breed of vehicle that had a motor in it - performing maintenance work, repair work and complete overhaul jobs. Galvin spent an entire month working on just motorcycles.

Periodically he got away on leave but didn't see too much of the farmland because he seemed to travel around England and Scotland in the dark. Mutton seemed to be a regular item on their camp menu. "I can't say that I ever got used to it, but I managed to eat it anyway. I sure appreciated the parcels from home!"

When the war was over, some of the outfit were sent over to Belgium and Holland to bring back army trucks to Warrens Park for servicing. After that job was finished, they got shipped home. They left from Liverpool, no blackout on board ship, and after four days at sea, they docked at New York Harbor. They were quite happy to see the Statue of Liberty! Galvin was discharged on March 29, 1946, in Winnipeg, and came back to the home farm four miles north of Franklin. Five days later, on April 3, while still wearing his army uniform, he was best man for his brother Ormond's wedding.

With army life now behind him, it was time to settle down at farming. Picking stones was his first job, working with his two brothers. After the mountain of stones was all picked, he got promoted to seeding with a 28-run drill. That spring, Galvin started farming on his own. As Galvin says, "In the fall of 1946 a new teacher came to teach at Cold Stream School. Her name was Sibyl Yerex. It so happened that she boarded at my mother and Dad's place and it so happened, in July 1949, that her teaching career came to an abrupt end. I married her." Sibyl and Galvin farmed many years and raised a family of four. Besides farming, Galvin's main interest was nature and wildlife. He enjoyed moose hunting and feeding deer right in their yard. He was a lifetime Legion member at Gen. Hugh Dyer Branch 138 in Minnedosa.

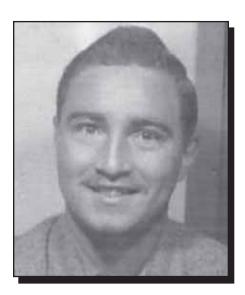

He received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, War Medal 1939-1945 and 1939-1945 Star.

Galvin passed away in 2002.

CAMPBELL, Colin Ross

WWII

Colin was born 2.5 miles east of Minnedosa, Manitoba, on April 24, 1920, to Jack and Elsie (McAree) Campbell. His family, which included two sisters, moved to a farm north of Bethany in 1923.

By 1941, Colin had been farming with his father for four years when he decided to sign up for the Royal Canadian Air Force at a recruiting drive at the Tremont Hotel in Minnedosa. As the positions of Pilot or Observer were filled, he was not called until March 1942.

In the meantime, he was called to take basic training in the army at Portage la Prairie. Upon completion, he was posted to Winnipeg Grenadiers Reserve who were recruiting due to the first battalion being imprisoned in Hong Kong, on December 6, 1941.

However, in March, he was called by the RCAF and went to Brandon #2 Manning Depot before continuing at the Initial Training School in Regina.

"I was struck off course due to eyesight and sent to Toronto to remuster, where I was issued glasses and remustered as an Armourer."

He was posted to MacDonald, Manitoba, #3 Bombing and Gunnery School, on December 30, 1942, and served there until May when he was posted to Y Depot, Halifax, enroute to overseas.

Onboard the Louis Pasteur, he got work helping in the kitchen where the motion was not as bad. Many of the soldiers on the boat were seasick on the rough voyage, and the convoy was unescorted. After arriving in Liverpool, Colin saw the first devastation of the war: sunken ships and barges with men and derricks trying to salvage and clear the debris so that another pier could be opened. Once they were on the train, they were off to Bournemouth in southern England. They were to be billeted in hotels, but two nights before arriving, the hotel they were to stay in was bombed. Colin said, "It was the first devastation I had seen up close and the stench of decomposing bodies, and the dust and rubble of workers trying to dig out and clear up the mess, was depressing. We were put up in temporary billets."

While in Bournemouth, Colin ran into a few guys from back home: Clifford Johnston and Harvey Woodcock were old schoolmates and in aircrew. They were both lost within three months. He met Calvin Moad from Clanwilliam and his brother Flt. Sgt. Harold Moad who were posted to Bomber Command. Harold would soon afterwards go missing in action.

Colin was posted to 426 Squadron in Dishforth in Yorkshire. He worked on Wellington Bombers, but his squadron switched to Halifax Bombers and moved to Linton-on-Ouse.

While on leave (as they were awaiting new aircraft), he went to London where he visited with cousins Jim Murphy and Clayton McAree.

Back in Linton, their 426 Squadron was joined by 408 Squadron, to service 40 new aircraft. After a month, Colin transferred to 9426, which was a maintenance group that serviced armament and turrets on aircraft and did trouble-shooting on flight operations when night bombing was in force. When the Berlin Raids were happening, the trips were very long, with aircraft leaving at 7:00pm and returning around 4:00am the next day. It made for long nights for duty crew and the flyers.

Colin was able to visit Scotland, where he met some of his mother's relatives. He was treated royally and made the trip many times, usually taking a friend.

'Lest We Forget'

In the fall of 1943, there was talk of sabotage, and the decision was made to have a Commando Force which could be quickly mobilized to protect the station. Colin was "joed" to be one of the candidates. He took part in a two-week training course of running, ditch jumping, climbing walls, swinging over water, and doing mock bayonet skirmishes. Colin lost eight pounds but was very fit when it was over. Fortunately, the Commando Force was never needed.

Later in the fall, he got another leave to go to southern England to see three of his cousins: Arthur McAree who was in the 19th battalion of the R.C.A., Jim Murphy and Clayton McAree who were in #1 Motor Ambulance Convoy. "We had a great time down in Surrey". Jim and Clayton went to Africa the following June. Arthur was in on the "D" Day Operations. He also met another cousin, Clifford McAree of Minnedosa, who was with the Canadian Army Show. Cliff did some of the arranging and handling of the technical stuff for Captain Bob Farnham, who had a popular radio show in Canada in the early 1940's, "The Happy Gang", and for Fred Davis, who was later part of CBC's "Front Page Challenge". Colin also ran into Doreen Holden Fox and Gerri Reid, both from Minnedosa.

Back in Linton, operations were getting very busy. He met Jim Proven from Basswood who was doing "ops" from their station, and Sid Paler was in the instrument section, both local fellows.

Colin wrote, "When one is on a base for over two years, a lot of personnel pass through, some with tragic results. I try not to relate tragedies I have experienced: of men decimated, aircraft crashes I attended to diffuse bombs and to remove cartridges and ammunition, airmen hurt and shaken by near mishaps, but thankful for their return; grown men shaken and in tears, and fearful for their lives; leaving on missions and trying to reassure them that all will be well - all these experiences tend to mature one very early. To see death at an early age tends to harden one to life, but the good times are remembered and the bad are buried in your mind."

In May 1944, they were fully operational with two Squadrons, 426 and 408, flying about 35 or 40 planes each operation, with the Americans flying Liberators, and the RCAF flying Lancasters, bombing German positions on the French coast at night.

That same month they had a visit from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, when Colin was chosen to be part of the honour guard. Other airmen booed as he hustled through the ranks rather hurriedly. Officers in charge were not happy about the insubordination.

In August 1944, the squadrons were visited by King George VI and Queen Elizabeth and were accompanied by Princess Elizabeth. They were escorted by Air Vice Marshall Breadner of the RCAF. Mammoth preparations had been made on the base prior to their arrival. The King inspected the guard and bestowed decorations on 32 aircrew of #6 Bomber Command.

The day the war ended, Colin and good friend Andy Hindmarsh hitchhiked to Scotland and partied with coal miners. Although they lost some privileges and pay, they had a good time. There was still lots of work to be done, disarming all aircraft, removing guns and bombs, and securing all bomb dumps.

Colin returned home aboard the same Louis Pasteur ship. He was discharged on October 18, 1945, with the rank of L.A.C. (Leading Aircraftman).

He received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, Defence Medal, and War Medal 1939-1945.

He worked in a few jobs before returning to the farm in 1947. He also worked off the farm in construction for the CNR part-time.

Colin married schoolteacher Vladis Antonius, who was teaching at Bethany Consolidated. They married in February 1949, and they had four children. He was a member of The Royal Canadian Legion Gen. Hugh Dyer Branch 138 in Minnedosa for 59 years. Colin passed away in 2002.

Hi! I'm Cindy Gaudet and this is my husband, Rick Gaudet.

We are both veterans who shifted into the travel industry to have a second career and see more of the world. In 2008, we were both still in the military after our eldest daughter graduated High School. Rick, a Master Warrant Officer at the time, was also working as a hockey referee on the side. Myself, a Master Corporal, began my side hustle as a Travel Agent to give my family vacations we could otherwise not afford... and it took off!

Fast forward to 2012, after 28 years in the Regular Forces, Rick went into the Reserves and joined me on this travel venture. I fully retired from the military after 12 years of service and two tours.

Rick left the Reserves in 2017 to become President and CEO of Fareconnect and today, I am right alongside him as Chief Operating Officer. Since then we've traveled to over 30 countries!

Our goal at Fareconnect is to set our agents up for success to achieve their goals in the Travel industry.

Military Service Recognition Book Volume 14

CLARK, Stephen David "Steve"

WWII

Steve was born in Kinosota, Manitoba in 1925. At age eighteen, he enlisted in the Royal Canadian Navy Volunteer Reserve at HMCS Chippawa, in Winnipeg. It was 1943 and by this time guns were being put on Merchant ships. After six weeks of basic training, Steve was sent to Victoria, BC, after volunteering to join a D.E.M.S. (Defensively Equipped Merchant Ship). He trained on the gunnery range and mine sweepers, then sailed on several merchant ships: S.S. Manitou Park, S.S. Queens' Park, S.S. Tobiotic Park, to name a few.

The Seamans' duty at sea was mainly to stand a four-hour watch, twice a day, for signs of a submarine or any vessel that could do damage to their ship. Steve sailed on freighters, going as far north as Skagway, Alaska, then south to San Francisco.

After a few months he was put on the longer run freighters from Vancouver, where they would travel down through the Panama Canal, up to New York, then convoy to England. Steve said of this convoy, "We left New York in the largest convoy ever to leave that area - 158 ships. We had merchant ships which had been fitted with an aircraft landing deck, similar to an aircraft carrier. Swordfish planes, with double wings, would take off, circle around the convoy, search for enemy submarines, and land back on the ship at speeds as low as 35 mph."

Most of their trips were with a convoy, but they also made solo trips from Vancouver, through the Panama Canal, to England.

The last trip he was on left from Vancouver, headed for Australia. They had trouble with a leaky ship so then had to pull into Pearl Harbour for repairs. As Steve put it, "There were buoys marking a safe passage through all the sunken U.S. war ships, which were bombed and sunk by the Japanese Air Force on December 7, 1944. Some of the ships were partly out of the water...after two weeks...none of us Canadians were sorry to be on our way and see the last of Pearl Harbour."

Upon sailing across the Equator for the first time, a Navy initiation custom took place, which would have been termed "hazing" by today's standards. At the end of it, they did receive an official certificate stating they had crossed the Equator, signed by the ship's Captain...as well as an unwanted buzz cut in the shape of a cross, and a very clean face!! This did help to alleviate the boredom of a long trip.

On arrival at Melbourne, the Canadians were treated well. Then they were off to Ceylon, and both sides of India; Bombay and Calcutta. Steve saw the Taj Mahal. They sailed on to Durban, South Africa, around the Cape of Good Hope, and up the west side of Africa. They were somewhere in the South Atlantic, headed for the U.S. east coast when they got word the war was over. Soon after this, they got orders to heave all their ammunition overboard in 20 fathoms of water, which they did.

They returned to base at Vancouver via the Panama Canal. Steve was discharged in 1946.

One particular thought that he shared: "Sometimes while at sea we'd think how alone we were out here, nothing but water and how fragile our ship was, only three inches thick. We'd hear how fast a torpedoed ship would go down. It got on our nerves at times. We'd take our life jackets to bed with us. Twice, while on watch, I spotted a lifeboat and some stuff floating on the water. We circled but couldn't find any survivors."

Steve's biggest problem after the war was trying to get his life started on "some medals, $365.00 and a handshake." Small tractors cost $1,200 and were in short supply. He settled for an old Case tractor. He also bought some heifer calves.

In 1947, Steve married Margaret Warnock. They lived in two unlined granaries on a quarter section he had bought before leaving for the war. He did some fur trapping in the winter and trapped muskrats in the spring. Margaret would skin the rats and stretch the skins. The first day he caught fourteen. They sold for $2.00 each. That was good money in those days. The babies started to arrive: six daughters and one son. The Clarks tried their hands at running a small store and post office for eight years; they left the farm after a devasting fire in 1949. In 1959, they moved to Yorkton, where Steve drove a mail truck. He also trucked potash from Esterhazy to the States.

After one or two more episodes of operating hotels, they sold their last hotel and came back to the farm in Basswood, where they remained and farmed until Margaret had to enter the Minnedosa PCH and Steve moved into a small home in Minnedosa.

A passion of Steve's in his spare time was tinkering with old radios. He'd search local farm auctions to find them, then rewire and refinish them, making them brand new. He then gave these treasures away to family and friends. He took up riding a unicycle in his later years, thanks to a birthday gift from his children. He also owned an electric powered car when no one had even heard of such a thing! He had rebuilt it, of course.

Steve moved into the Minnedosa Personal Care Home, a number of years after Margaret passed away. He died in 2018.

Steve received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal, Atlantic Star, Pacific Star with Burma Bar, 1939-1945 Star and War Medal 1939-1945.

CLARK, Thomas James "Jim"

KOREAN WAR

Jim was born in Minnedosa, Manitoba in 1933. He left school in 1951 and joined the Army at Fort Osborne Barracks in Winnipeg when he was eighteen.

He took a group two Mechanics Course in Calgary. Shortly afterwards, he was shipped overseas to Korea, where he took up a position as a Driver Mechanic with the 81st Field Regiment, which later became the 4th R.C.H.A. In Jim's words, "In retrospect my army service in Korea as a young man of 18 was the most impressive event of my lifetime. Like other young guys of that age, war has a way of making 18-year-olds grow up in an awful hurry. I was proud to serve with the Canadian Army in Korea."

"On June 25, 1950, the forces of North Korea crossed the 38th Parallel into the Republic of Korea. This marked the beginning of hostilities which were to rage for three full years and more, throughout that country known to its people as the Land of the Morning Calm. The magnitude of the assault made it clear that this was a full-scale invasion.

This was the first open act of aggression since the establishment of the United Nations Organization, and its actions were of great significance for its prestige and credibility - in fact for its very future. The invasion was declared a breach of the peace, and 16-member nations joined forces to resist the aggression.

Canada's contribution, exceeded only by that of the United States and Great Britain, demonstrated her willingness to uphold the United Nations ideals and to take up arms in support of peace and freedom. All told, 26 791 Canadians served in the Korean War, and approximately 7 000 continued to serve in the theatre between the cease-fire and the end of 1955. The names of 516 Canadian dead are inscribed in the Korea Book of Remembrance." *

In July 1953, the Korean Armistice Agreement was signed, ending the war. Jim returned home in the spring of 1954 and was discharged.

Jim received the Korean Medal, United Nations Medal, and the Korea Volunteer Medal.

Jim married Doreen Shanks of Neepawa in July 1956. They had three children, two boys and a girl.

He trained as an autobody mechanic and worked in Neepawa before moving back to Minnedosa, where he worked in a dealership as Sales Manager for seventeen years. He then worked for Agri-Steel and later with the Manitoba Provincial Government as a Court Reporter and Special Examiner. Jim retired in 1991.

In 1993, at the invitation of the Korean Government, he returned to Korea to take part in the 30-year Reunion of the NATO forces. Veterans paid for only their airfare. The South Korean Government looked after all other expenses.

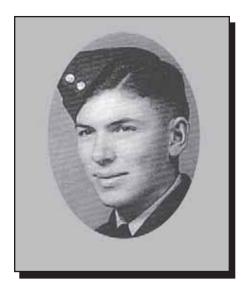

Thomas is a member of The Royal Canadian Legion Gen. Hugh Dyer Branch 138 in Minnedosa for 68 years and counting.

CONGDON, Oscar Willis "Hap"

WWII

Hap was born in Miami, Manitoba in 1920. Following graduation from high school in Miami, Manitoba in 1939, Hap attended the University of Manitoba for one year. He then enlisted in the RCAF in Winnipeg in 1940, at the age of twenty.

After basic training at Brandon Manning Depot, he was posted to one of the Initial Training Schools (I.T.S.) and took basic Aircrew Training as an Air Navigator or Observer. He trained at #9 Air Observer School (A.O.S.) in St. Jean, Quebec, for four months until September 1942, on twin engine Anson aircraft. From November 1942 to January 1943, he was at #3 (O) A.F.U. #48, taking an advanced Air Observers Navigation Course. He graduated this course with his commission, Pilot Officer (P/O).

On February 26, 1942, Hap was posted overseas, travelling on the Queen Elizabeth. He flew and trained on twin engine Wellington aircraft in the United Kingdom at #22 OUT and #6 Bomber Command in Yorkshire, in preparation for air operations over enemy territory.

He then was posted to the Air Base Lineham near Swinden, Wiltshire. Here he met Mary Joachim, an aircraft factory inspector, who was also in the British Auxiliary Fire Service. Hap and Mary were married at the end of May 1945, after receiving a special license from the Bishop.

His advanced training continued on four-engine bombers - Halifax aircraft. Hap's logbook indicates that on June 2, 1943, he was operating on Halifax aircraft in England, Egypt and Italy, having been attached to #148 RAF Squadron. He flew 26 ops over enemy territory, two out of England and 24 out of Egypt, with an all-Canadian crew.

Hap ferried aircraft to North Africa. By November 1943, he was flying Liberators. He and his crew caught malaria. After recovering sufficiently to resume flying, he was crewed up with an RAF crew in #428 Squadron, flying supplies to the underground in Cairo, Italy and several other areas. One night he flew past the volcano Vesuvius, where his aircraft got covered with volcanic ash. Hap was the navigator.

On one particular mission, their load was bullion gold. Due to weather conditions, the gold had to be jettisoned before arriving at their destination. The gold was recovered. Hap and his crew were flying out of Italy at this time, in December 1943.

On another particular mission, Hap's crew dropped an underground female in occupied territory. She was dropped three separate times and succeeded in returning to base safely each time. Her mission would have been collecting intelligence and/or sabotage.

Hap's last trip of his second tour involved dropping supplies to the Polish underground. Fuel ran short due to a heavy cargo and having to buck strong head winds. The pilot nosed the aircraft down between two mountain peaks, at an altitude of only 1, 000 feet. The supplies were dropped, and suddenly all four engines stopped; petrol tanks were empty! The crew scrambled to the escape hatch and baled out over enemy-occupied Poland. When Hap landed via parachute, his back was injured on impact; vertebrae were broken. He must have been in excruciating pain but somehow managed to manoeuvre a certain distance until apprehended by Germans and taken prisoner. Another crew member was also captured, but the rest of Hap's crew managed to get in touch with the Polish underground, escaped into Russia, managing to return to England. All of this took place on April 4, 1944.

Hap's logbook gives this information: total ops time - 211 hours 10 min; total flying time - 273.25 (days), 317.1 (nights). His pilot was W. O. Storey.

Hap remained a POW until May 1945, when he was liberated. Information concerning the thirteen months or so in POW camp(s) is scarce. He seldom talked about life as a prisoner of war. We do know that he was shipped to a POW camp by rail. When the second front opened after the Normandy invasion on June 6, 1944, the POWs were moved closer to Germany. They were force-marched. While walking towards Germany, they were strafed by Allied planes, who mistook them for German troops. Some of the POWs also died from lack of food and were too weak to go any further.

Following Hap's liberation as a POW in May 1945, he was given leave and returned to England. Meanwhile he had been promoted to Flying Officer (F/O).

Hap was repatriated back to Canada in August 1945 and discharged in Winnipeg. Mary was not able to join him until January 1946. They settled on a farm in Miami, Manitoba for a few years, and in 1950 they moved to Binscarth, where Hap worked for the Manitoba Pool Elevators in Chillon for five years.

They moved to Oak River where Hap was the Secretary-Treasurer of the RM of Blanshard for several years. After Oak River, they moved to Minnedosa, where he was employed by the Rolling River School District as Secretary, and later as transportation officer.

Hap's final position was with the Townview Manor in Minnedosa, collecting rent and such for two years. By this time his health had begun to deteriorate. He suffered a stroke in 1978, at age 56, and died in October 1988. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. T. Delgaty in Minnedosa, with interment at Miami Cemetery.

Hap and Mary raised their family of two children, Fay (Wayne) Bruce of Minnedosa and Bill (Margaret) of Brandon.

Hap received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, Defence of Britain Medal, Italy Star, 1939-1945 Star and War Medal 1939-1945.

Ray was born, raised, and educated in Minnedosa, Manitoba. His date of birth was June 5, 1920.

He served continuously with the 12th Manitoba Dragoons at Camp Shilo, Manitoba, from July 25, 1940, to July 8, 1941. He then enlisted with the Royal Canadian Air Force in September 1941, and took his flight training at the following locations: Initial Training School, Saskatoon, SK; Bombing and Gunnery School, Macdonald, MB; Elementary Flying Training School No. 19, Virden, MB (flying Tiger Moths, March 1 - April 26, 1942); Service Flying Training School No. 12, Brandon, MB (flying Cessna Cranes, May 10 - Aug 28, 1942)

Ray received his wings in Brandon on August 27, 1942 and was commissioned as a pilot officer.

From September 28 to November 28, he attended the Advanced Navigation Course at the General Reconnaissance School No. 31 in Charlottetown, P.E.I., where training was on Anson aircraft. He was then recognized as a pilot-navigator.

From December 15 to 31, 1942, he was stationed at "Y" Depot in Halifax, NS, awaiting transport overseas. No flights were taken during this period.

On December 31, he embarked on the freighter Beaverhill of 10,000 tons, which sailed in a convoy of 40 - 50 ships across the Atlantic, arriving off Liverpool on January 14, 1943. His group then travelled by train through London to Bournemouth, Dorset on the English Channel.

The stay in Bournemouth lasted from January 15 to February 16, 1943, during which time additional briefings and other training took place, although no flights were involved.

On February 14, 1943, he received notice of his posting to R.C.A.F. Squadron 407, the "Demon Squadron," then stationed in Scotland. The squadron had been formed on March 8, 1941, as a part of the R.A.F.'s Coastal Command. Two other Minnedosa airmen, Clark McNabb and Les Shuttleworth, were also attached to the "Demon Squadron."

The trip by train to this assignment took place over February 16 to 17. The 407 was stationed at Skitten, Caithness near R.A.F. base at Wick, and had been opened only 48 hours before they arrived. The squadron was equipped with Wellington X and XI bombers. The next month and a half was dedicated to additional briefings and exercises in low level strafing, bombing and night flying.

On April 1, the Squadron was transferred to Chivenor, North Devon. Training involved submarine engagement tactics, including the use of the Leigh Light. Operations were antisubmarine patrols in the Bay of Biscay, between France and Spain.

During the night and early morning hours of April 28 and 29, 1943, Ray was the second pilot of an antisubmarine flight in Wellington "H" (for Harry). The crew reported engine trouble while on their final approach to the air strip at Chivenor and crashed into the sea off Baggy Point. All members of the crew were killed. Flying Officer Cornwall's body was not recovered, and he was considered "missing in action" for some time after the tragic end of their mission. He was 22 years of age.

Ray was posthumously awarded his Operational Wings on June 24, 1943. The Canadian Volunteer Service Medal for 1939-1945 was given to his parents on his behalf. His memory is commemorated on Panel 173 of the War Memorial at Runnymede, England as well as on the Cenotaph in Minnedosa. An island in northern Manitoba was named in his honour.

The Commonwealth Air Training Plan Museum Inc. Book "They Shall Not Grow Old" records this memorial, page 143:

"CORNWALL, JAMES RAYMOND F/O (P) J13599/R119754. From Minnedosa, Manitoba. Killed in Action Apr. 29/43 age 22. #407 Demon Squadron. (To Hold On High). Wellington aircraft #MP 618 failed to return from an anti-sub patrol. F/L G. Low, F/O.s A.A. Flemington, J.P. Wheeler, P/O J.D. Ferguson, and FS F.C. Summers were also killed. Flying Officer Pilot Cornwall has no known grave, his name is inscribed on the Runnymede War Memorial, Englefield Green, Egham, Surrey, England."

His medals include the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, Defence of Britain Medal, 1939-1945 Star, and War Medal 1939-1945.

CRAWFORD, Kenneth

WWII

Kenneth was born in Dauphin, Manitoba, in 1924. He joined the Royal Canadian Air Force #432 Squadron serving in England. Kenny died on January 3, 1944, at the age of nineteen and is commemorated at the Berlin 1939-1945 War Cemetery in Brandenburg, Germany. He was the son of William and Winnifred Crawford and brother of Gordon Crawford and sister Florence Arndt of Roblin, Manitoba. When the military recruiters came to the high school, Kenny was one of the first to sign up even though he was only 17 years old. He had a vibrant and outgoing personality, always seeking adventure and quickly rose through the military ranks. His brother, Gordon, was also killed several months later and their pictures remained on their grandmother's bureau until her death. She was very proud of their medals and showed them to every visitor to her house.

The Municipality of Red Lake wishes to express our sincere gratitude to all the Northwestern Ontario and Manitoba servicemen and women that made the ultimate sacrifice so that we may be free. They are true heroes and will be remembered forever.

Our flag does not fly because the wind moves it. It flies with the last breath of each soldier who died protecting it. Tracy's Nofrills thanks you all ... Lest We Forget.

CRAWLEY, Richard Osborne

WWII

Trooper Crawley: "The most important thing in the army was to have friends; if you had them, nothing else really mattered very much. The daily vicissitudes of army life, with its highs and lows, were easy to cope with as long as you were surrounded by congenial, trusted, caring companions. But there was only one way to acquire them; you had to serve the time. You had to share the long hours of Guard duty, the irksome daily chores, the discomforts, but also the good times, the laughs, and the fun. Over the months and years, we became very close to each other, very appreciative of our companions' virtues, tolerant of their faults. No one was ever lonely; that came later."

Richard enlisted in the Army on May 21, 1941, when the 12th Manitoba Dragoons, the Second Armoured Car Regiment and the Manitoba Mounted Rifles, all reserve units, were amalgamated and mobilized to form the 18th Reconnaissance Battalion, later to be called once again the 12th Manitoba Dragoons. He started training in Winnipeg, then moved to Shilo, then to Borden, ON. A few days after Pearl Harbour, he and his troopmates boarded a train for the west coast and spent the winter between Esquimalt and Otter Point, a rocky promontory about 30 miles west of Victoria, where they guarded the coastline.

In May 1942, they were sent to Debert, NS, and on August 18, 1942, the eve of the Dieppe raid, they boarded the Letitia in Halifax harbour, arriving 11 days later in Britain.

Richard and his troop did not cross to the beachhead in France until July 10. Their Staghound armoured cars had no room to manoeuvre, so they parked them in an orchard and went on to fill an Infantry role, for which they were ill-equipped. They were exposed to mortar fire, occasional accidents with weapons, and antipersonnel mines. By the time they faced their first action, they had already lost three men and half a dozen were wounded.

Richard was wounded on August 3, a very near miss by a mortar bomb. After seven weeks in hospital, he started the long road back to his regiment. As Richard said, "There is no loneliness so intense as to be surrounded by strangers, who do not care what becomes of you, and I suffered from it. Even my mail did not catch up to me, as I moved frequently. Most of all, I was afraid that I would end up in some other regiment, for, by this time, the tanks had been suffering heavy casualties, and trained crew members were at a premium." Richard's trade was OP. C.A.C. (Operator, Canadian Armed Corps), which qualified him for the turret position in any Sherman tank.

By December 6, 1944, he arrived back at "A" Squadron HQ. At almost the same time, three men in "A" Squadron died in a traffic accident, one of them Richard's closest friend, 20 years old, with 3½ years' service.

As Richard rode up in a ration truck the next day to take his friend's place, his mind was a torment of conflicting emotions. He was delighted to be going back to his old squadron, devastated by the loss of his friend, and unsure whether to laugh or cry. But his Squadron had provided a wonderful "welcome home" gift for him.

"As I jumped out of the truck, I was aware that they had prepared a full military funeral, something for which we seldom had the time or opportunity. A local undertaker had provided coffins, and even in December there were masses of flowers. As my feet hit the ground, I was seized by two old friends and hustled away. My pack, equipment, and greatcoat were stripped off and thrown in a heap, and I was escorted, at the double, to the head of the parade, where the three of us fell in beside the second coffin. As soon as we were in position, the Squadron was brought to attention, the orders given, and we picked up the coffins, lifted them to our shoulders, and marched off up the road to the cemetery on the outskirts of Roosendaal. It was not until later I found out that the squadron had stood for 45 minutes, waiting for the ration truck, so that I could carry my friend's coffin. It was an act of friendship which I have never equaled, before or since. As I spread my blankets that night, on the floor of a Dutch house where we were billeted, felt peace and tranquility, and thought to myself that I would rather be right where I was than anywhere else in the world."

All the rest of the winter they stood guard on the great rivers of Holland: the Waal, the Maas and the Rhine. In March 1945, the 21st Army Group forced a crossing of the Rhine, an operation on a scale comparable to D-Day, and after the first fierce resistance was overcome, they broke out. The speed and mobility of their Staghound armoured cars took them far in advance of all other units, and they moved rapidly into northeastern Holland.

They had a wonderful ride and encountered no more serious resistance. They began to encounter the warmth and gratitude of the Dutch people. Every day they would go into three or four villages, and in each one, they would encounter throngs of people, hysterical with joy. "For days we rode the top of the emotional roller-coaster, and nothing in my life will ever equal its impact."

From there they moved into Germany, where the reception was very different. They were forbidden to talk to the people, and indeed had little desire to do so. It was a relief for them to get back into Holland again. They crossed the border several times.

In the late afternoon of May 4, 1945, an order came through to "cease fire and stand fast." They were within sight of the German seaport of Wilhelmshaven.

Richard's thoughts on his war experience: "On December 10, 1945, Canada draft #555, containing the bulk of our unit, arrived in Winnipeg's Union Station. As we pushed through the crowd, each trying to find his own family, the joy of homecoming was tempered by a fact that we had not taken time to consider until now: something that had been the biggest thing in our lives was about to end, abruptly. Once we walked out of that station, each to his own destiny, it was over, finished, for all time. I have no regrets. Nobody could have had a better life than I have. I grew up in the 1930's which, in spite of the problems, was a good experience, while the war, however terrible its cost, was still a wonderful thing in which to participate, with its incredible companionship, and sense of shared purpose. As I write this, my 76th birthday is only days away and old age is near. Life has been good to me and I will never forget the men of the 12th Manitoba Dragoons."

Richard was discharged at Fort Osborne Barracks in Winnipeg the end of January 1946, at which time he returned to farming north of Clanwilliam. He received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal, Defence Medal, France and Germany Star, 1939-1945 Star, and War Medal 1939-1945.

In 1950, he married Donelda Keeting from Silverton, MB. They raised a family of three. His interests after retirement were building miniature threshing machines, steam engines, ships and anything else that triggered his interest. He also enjoyed playing the organ.

Richard passed away in 2006.

DAVIES, Wilfred Russell "Wilf"

WWII

Wilf was born in Bethany, Manitoba in 1923. He enlisted with the 12th Manitoba Dragoons in Minnedosa on May 31, 1941, at 17 years of age. He and his older brother Lloyd joined the same day. They were sent to the Jerry Robinson building in Winnipeg for basic training in the Minto Armouries.

Wilf's next posting was to Camp Shilo for three months. Here the brothers finished basic training, including small arms and .303 Lee Enfield rifles. After Shilo, he and Lloyd began work at M.T.S., at Camp Borden, learning the mechanical end of Bren Gun Carriers and driving military trucks. They transferred back to Shilo until late fall in 1941.

When the Japanese submarine scare happened on the west coast, the biggest part of the Dragoons was posted to Souke, near Victoria, BC. Lloyd stayed at Souke, with an attack of asthma, while Wilf went to Jordon River for night shore patrol guard duty. They rested and slept during the day.

The following spring of 1942, they were sent to Debert, NS to finish training on army vehicles, Bren guns and bigger guns. They left for Britain in spring of 1943, travelling to Brighton. Here they were trained on armoured and scout cars. The scout cars carried a crew of two and were armour-plated. The armoured cars had a crew of five.

Wilf did not stay at one place very long, so he saw a lot of England. The unit slept in the bush in tents and travelled in convoys. Wilf was a driver instructor.

Shortly after D-Day, about May 20, 1944, they crossed the English Channel in landing crafts. All of their vehicles had been waterproofed. They got off the landing crafts into about four feet of water, off the coast of Normandy. When they arrived, there was not room for them to work with the vehicles, so they did guard duty in town.

Wilf's unit was the 18th Armoured Car Regiment Reconnaissance, which was changed a few months later to 15th Armoured Reconnaissance. When they got to France, the name changed back to 12th Manitoba Dragoons.

Their duties included going out and locating enemy, then reporting back to HQ, who would phone Artillery or Air Force, whichever was needed to deal with the enemy. Their job was to find out what the Germans had in the way of equipment.

They were once shelled by the Americans, who mistook them for German soldiers. Alf Nicholson from Franklin was killed. A few of them received shrapnel wounds. "We picked shrapnel out of one fellow's bum with a jack knife! I got shrapnel in my right arm," according to Wilf. Later on, as they travelled through northern France, one armoured car was blown up and the whole crew was killed. One of their men was killed by a booby trap attached to the doorbell of a house. It exploded in his face.

The Dragoons travelled right along the coast through France, Belgium, and Holland, going as far as the Black Forest in Germany when the war ended.

Wilf and his friend took military equipment to Czechoslovakia, for the Czech Government to purchase. They did this for about two months.

Returning to England in September, they set sail for Canada on December 20, on board the Queen Mary. They had turkey and all the trimmings, including one bottle of beer per man, for a Christmas feast. They landed in New York and took a train to Winnipeg, making it back to Minnedosa for New Year's Eve. That night Wilf attended the New Year's Eve dance in the Armouries. Welcome home!

Wilf and Lloyd ran a trucking business for a few years after the war, delivering coal and grain, etc.

In 1947, Wilf married Adeline Kolesar of Spring Hill. They moved to Neepawa where Wilf worked for Earl Murray in the garage business until 1949. Then he returned to the home farm when his dad became ill. In 1961, Wilf started working for the RM of Minto as grader operator, and he retired in 1988. He was honoured to have been presented with a Champion Road Grader plaque for many long years of grader service.

Adeline and Wilf divorced in 1982, and Wilf married Shirley Wiebe of Minnedosa in 1983. He raised a family of two sons and a daughter. He joined The Royal Canadian Legion Minnedosa Branch 138 and was a member for 27 years. In retirement, Wilf enjoyed curling, travelling, bowling, carpentry and gardening.

Wilf's comments of his war service: "As far as my war memories are concerned, we did what we had to do. In our troop we had fourteen men to begin with, and only four of the original guys came back." He attended about four Reunions.

He received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, Defence Medal, France and Germany Star, 1939-1945 Star, and War Medal 1939-1945. Wilf passed away in 2003.

DAVIES, William T. W.

WWII

William was born in Welwyn, Saskatchewan, in 1915. He enlisted in October 1940 with the Canadian Provost Corps serving in the United Kingdom. He was discharged in January 1946. William had been a member of Russell Branch 159 of The Royal Canadian Legion for 57 years before he passed away in 2007.

DELMAGE, Albert Edward "Bert"

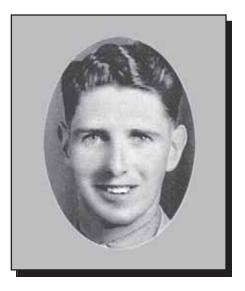

WWII

Bert was born in Minnedosa. He enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in January 1943, in Winnipeg. Prior to this, he lived on the family farm in Cameron District, north of Minnedosa. His initial training took place in the Ford Building in Winnipeg, followed by a posting to Manning Depot at Lachine, Quebec.

Bert proceeded to Technical School at St. Thomas, Ontario, (TTS), where he took a course in Air Frame Mechanics and graduated as a rigger on January 12, 1944, with Honours.

His next posting was to Ferry Command in Dorval, Quebec, where he worked mainly on B-25 Mitchells, B-24 Liberators and B-17 Flying Fortresses. These aircraft were flown from Dorval to Britain via Goose Bay, Labrador, for air operations by aircrews in Bomber Command.

Bert was then posted to the R.C.A.F. Operational Training Unit at Boundry Bay, BC, where crews were being trained on B-25 Mitchells and Liberators for operations in the Japanese theatre of war. They were also being trained on Kitty Hawk fighter aircraft.

On February 21, 1945, while at Boundry Bay, Bert spotted a Japanese balloon over the mainland. A Kitty Hawk from 133 Squadron was immediately dispatched and shot it down. The balloon landed off the end of the runway. No one was allowed to go near it for fear of germ warfare. It was picked up by the appropriate personnel and they never saw any more of it.

Bert's dad, Simon Delmage, died on V.E. Day, 1945. Bert got his discharge near the end of the following August.

In 1950, he married Doreen Petrick of Brandon. They raised three children.

Bert returned to the farm for a while, then trained as an electrician at the University of Manitoba. He worked as an electrician for many years before retiring on February 25, 1983.

He received a letter of appreciation and medal for his 36 years in the Public Service from Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau.

Bert kept busy in retirement, golfing and spending time with the retired civil servants' organization, and the Commonwealth Air Training Plan Museum in Brandon. His son was one of the original people involved in the C.A.T.P.

He received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and the War Medal 1939-1945.

DELMAGE, Ernest Charles "Ernie"

WWII

Ernie was born in Minnedosa, Manitoba in 1918. His military service began in March 1936 when he enlisted in the 12th Manitoba Dragoons in Minnedosa. He was 18 and a farmer. Ernie and a group of NCO's were called to take a course at Camp Borden, Ontario, in the Armoured Corps School. After three months, he became an instructor and was posted to Debert, Nova Scotia, to become part of the 4th Canadian Armoured Division as RCEME (Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers). Ernie became part of the Light Aid Detachment (LAD) of the REME and was posted to the 10th Canadian Infantry Brigade. Their motto "Through mud and blood to the green fields beyond" originated from General Worthington. He was the originator and father of the Royal Canadian Armoured Corps and is now buried in Camp Borden.

In the fall of 1942, Ernie's LAD was loaded on board the Athlone Castle and sailed for the United Kingdom, arriving in Liverpool, then proceeding to the Aldershot area. They trained and moved around England until the LAD arrived in France on D-Day plus 28 at Bernières-sur-Mer. They came under fire at Caen. Two men from the LAD investigated a report from local French civilians that there were some Germans in a nearby barn. This resulted in the capture, by two very surprised LAD men, of ten German prisoners including two SS men.

The LAD moved into Germany in February 1945, forcing Germans back across the Rhine. The LAD then moved back into Holland with the Brigade before crossing the Rhine once more towards the end of the war. Throughout the whole campaign in northwest Europe, there were no men lost through enemy action.

During Ernie's stay in England, he met and married Emma Ruth Kirby, from Sedgeford, Norfolk, on January 8, 1944. He arrived back in Canada two years later, with Ruth and his son arriving four months after him.

After being discharged, Ernie farmed for a year to qualify for VLA benefits. Then he was able to purchase his grandfather's homestead.

However, Ernie decided to rejoin the 12th Manitoba Dragoons and again proceeded to Camp Borden to qualify for his commission. He became a 2nd Lieutenant in 1946, then to 1st Lieutenant in 1951, at which time he took over command of the Dragoons "A" Squadron in Minnedosa. In the post war years, Ernie also had Cadets in Dundurn, SK and Shilo and Clear Lake, MB. He took an army call out with the regular army in 1954 and was with Instruction and Administration of HQ, Prairie Command until 1961. He rented his farm out.

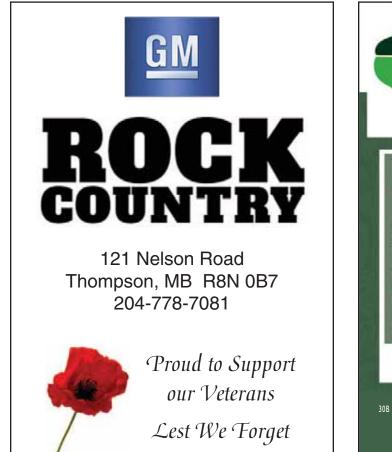

After 1961, Ernie was promoted to the rank of Captain. He retired officially from the Army on January 1, 1969.

He worked for a few businesses in town before joining the Minnedosa Consumers Co-op for 18 years, until retirement in 1982. Ernie and Ruth sold the farm in 1965, having brought four children into the world.

He was a life member of The Royal Canadian Legion Minnedosa Branch 138 and was a member for 62 years. He enjoyed gardening, fishing and involvement with the Manitoba Trout Farmers Association. Ernie and Ruth spent many winters in Victoria, BC. Ernie passed away in 2009.

Ernie received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, Defence of Britain Medal, France and Germany Star, 1939-1945 Star and War Medal 1939-1945.

DELMAGE, Raymond

WWII

In December 1940, Ray was farming with his parents, Simon and Alice Delmage, on the family farm in the Cameron District, north of Minnedosa. He was twenty years old when he and older brother Ernie enlisted in the RCEME and on July 1, 1941, they travelled to Camp Borden, Ontario, to begin basic training. From there, Ray transferred to Debert, Nova Scotia, with the 4th Canadian Armored Division as a REMEE and was subsequently shipped to England.

The invasion of Italy began in 1943 in Sicily. At this time, Ray was attached to the 1st Canadian Army Tank Brigade as a tank transporter. They joined the British 8th Army and began the invasion of Italy. The loss of Allied lives as they pushed north in the campaign was enormous.

At some point during the campaign, Ray contracted malaria. This condition would later plague him with recurring attacks for several years after he returned home.

In 1944, Ray was wounded and lay in the mud and cold for 48 hours, before being retrieved. This resulted in him developing double pneumonia.

In the field hospital, Medics attempting to treat him, as well as remove shrapnel, opened him up from sternum to groin. As they were pushed to suture the opening quickly, due to vast numbers of casualties, he was left with a scar that was a great source of fascination to his children in later years. (They always felt it looked like laced up skates).

As Ray was no longer fit for duty, he was shipped back to England, where he spent eleven months in hospital before being repatriated back to Canada in 1945. He returned on the #2 Hospital Ship, T.S.S.T. Letitia. A treasured family memento of that journey is a program from the New Year's Eve party that featured Cpl. Delmage in the #10 spot, accompanying himself on the guitar and yodelling.

When back in the Cameron District, he returned to the family farm. In July 1946, he married Shirley McPherson, a Foxwarren girl, who was teaching at the Cameron School. Together they raised four children.

To supplement the farm income, Ray put the skills he learned in the army to good use as a mechanic at Funnell's Garage. Ray also worked part-time at the Manitoba Liquor Commission.

In 1967, failing health forced him to sell and leave the farm. He died in February 1970, at age 49. Ray is interred at Minnedosa Cemetery.

He received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, Defence Medal, Italy Star, 1939-1945 Star and War Medal 1939-1945.

DOW, Norman Earl

WWII

Norman was seventeen years old when he enlisted in the 70th Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery on June 19, 1941, in Neepawa, Manitoba. He had been living in Bethany, Manitoba.

He was stationed at Shilo, MB; Debert, NS, then Sussex, NB. In Sussex, their unit was changed over to 70th Light ACK ACK 8 L.A.A. Regiment. They had no Bofar Guns to train on so someone built a few out of wood, which they used until going overseas to England. They left from Halifax, NS, in August 1942, on the Capetown Castle (an old cattle boat). As Norman put it, "Never ate so many hard-boiled eggs in my life, as the food was fish and fishy. You can imagine the smell with about 10,000 soldiers on board in hammocks slung six high and bunks about four high." They arrived in Colchester, England.

They were stationed all over England: Colchester, Dunley Hill, Newlands Corner, Borden, Clacton, Stone Cross, Newmarket (where they slept in horse racing stalls), and Pippinford Park. Through all these Camps, Norman took Signal and Clerk Courses. During this time, they also manned Light Anti-Aircraft Gun Sights. When they left for continental Europe, this was the work they performed in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. Norman was slightly wounded at Hoshwald Forest in March 1945.

He was later discharged in Winnipeg, MB, on November 2, 1945, and went to work at the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting in the Mill Department, where zinc, copper and gold is separated. "The pay was .65 cents an hour, big money compared to $1.30 a day Army pay!"

In August 1950, Norman decided to rejoin the Army in Winnipeg, "E" Battery, 2nd Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, and was shipped to Shilo, MB. His Battery then took a train to Fort Lewis, Washington, for further training. From the States, they traveled aboard the General Buckner, bound for Korea. "It sure was a treat, great meals and a decent place to sleep. The Pacific Ocean was very quiet and we had a good trip over." They landed at Puson and immediately went into action.

Norman returned home in August 1952 and was discharged with the rank of Bombardier.

He returned to his former job in Flin Flon. Norman married Grace Bowen on June 6, 1953. They had four children, two girls and two boys.

In September 1982, he retired from his job as Labor Foreman in the Mill and stayed in Flin Flon. He was a member of The Royal Canadian Legion for 49 years and did much canvassing for the Cancer Society, Red Cross, Arthritis Society, etc. He was also President of the local Seniors Group.

For his service in World War II, Norman received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, Defense Medal, France and Germany Star, 1939-1945 Star, and War Medal 1939-1945.

Norm was awarded Commander-in-Chief's Certificate, which read:

"21st Army Group. 4 Bdr. N. E. Dow

It has been brought to my notice that you have performed outstanding good service and shown great devotion to duty during the campaign in North West Europe. I award you this Certificate and I have given instructions that this shall be noted in your Record of Service.

B. L. Montgomery, Field Marshall,

Commander-in-Chief, 21st Army Group"

He received the Korea Medal, United Nations Service Medal, Canadian Volunteer Service Medal for Korea for his service in the Korean War. It took forty years to be recognized.

Lawrence was dispatched to the French front with the Fort Garry Horse, where one of his brothers was reported to be involved in the "Last Cavalry Charge." As the story goes, his horse was shot down from under him, which he then used to shield himself from enemy fire, making his escape when all was quiet. A Proud Supporter Of Our Veterans

ERICKSON, Carl Jhalmar

WWII

When Carl enlisted in the RCAF in December 1941, he was 21 years old, and living in Minnedosa. MB. As he had been born in Sweden, in 1920, he had to be screened for one year due to his birth country being neutral in the Second World War.

Immediately after his medical in Winnipeg, he was dispatched to Vancouver for guard duty. This was during the time of the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor, and so he missed Manning Depot and all the preliminaries normally associated with joining the RCAF.

As soon as Carl arrived at Uculet, a seaplane base on Vancouver Island, a full-dress parade was ordered. He had not checked the uniform he had been issued and to his horror, found the great coat was two different sizes sewn together - one long and one short. He had no choice but to wear it and was promptly marched off the parade square and back to clothing at once. ("I often wondered who got the other two halves!")

One interesting tidbit of his time there is that the Trans-Pacific Wireless Station (with lines across the Pacific Ocean), Banfield, which was off the coast of Vancouver Island, was the target of 25 Japanese shells; the only enemy shells to land on Canadian soil during the war.

In the spring of 1942, Carl was sent overseas to the U.K. on the Empress of Scotland, formerly the Empress of Japan. The name, of course, had been changed due to Pearl Harbor. They left Halifax unescorted and were to have taken a north passage but due to a line of German U boats, they detoured down the American coast and came across at North Africa, then around Ireland, landing at Liverpool.

Carl was posted to Dalton in Yorkshire as a firefighter on a crash crew. Their primary job was to attend to all aircraft crashes, with fire engine and equipment.

His next posting was to Wombleton, a new conversion unit, where aircrews were trained on four-engined Halifax and Lancaster bombers, which were capable of delivering an 8,000 lb. bomb load. Carl served here until the end of the war, with the #6 R.C.A.F. Bomber Command.

They attended some terrible crashes. Most often when a plane crashed it burst into flames and the result was a horrible fire with a constant barrage of exploding ammo and (sometimes) bombs. In most crashes the crews were killed instantly. Rarely did anyone survive a serious crash.

Carl tells the story of a dance being held at Wombleton Aerodrome, where the local hospital staff (nurses) had received an invitation to attend. Most of the airmen were at the local English pubs, though, and so the embarrassed entertainment officer literally stood outside the dance hall and ordered every airman passing by to "Go into the dance and dance with those girls!!" Dressed in battledress, as he'd been working, and wearing rubber boots, Carl was also ordered to attend. "Result? I asked a teacher from the hospital, named Brenda Downe, from Queensbury, Bradford, Yorkshire, to dance - a slow waltz! The rubber boots on a cement floor and my attempt to waltz Canadian style, and my partner taking long, slow steps, was really something of a disaster. After the dance I took Brenda back to her seat - and as she sat down, her chair collapsed and down she went. She really fell for me in a big way the first time we met."

Carl remembers Eddy Brewer from Minnedosa being the operator at the picture show flicks they sometimes attended.

In November 1945, Carl was repatriated back to Canada via the Queen Elizabeth. He landed in Halifax, took the train to Lachine, Quebec, and then headed west to Winnipeg. He got his discharge in December 1945, and returned to Minnedosa.

Carl and Brenda corresponded back and forth for two and a half years. Finally, in the spring of 1948, she had waded through all the red tape to come to Canada. As they had not married in England, she was not a 'war bride', so the process was considerably more difficult.

Carl had purchased a house in the northeast corner of town, the "Pete Robinson house", down by the river. This was May 1948, when the Minnedosa dam broke, and so his last letter to Brenda, before she left England for Canada, was to tell her that he could see the roof of the house, sticking above the water, but the garage and playhouse in the yard had gone down the river and smashed to pieces on the railroad bridge! However, Brenda came as planned, and they were married in Winnipeg the day after she arrived.

They set up house in a room above Alden's Clothing Store on Main Street for three months before moving into their home. They lived there happily by the banks of the Little Saskatchewan River on the northeastern edge of town.

Carl worked for the CPR for ten years, then another ten as Custodian of the North School, followed by eighteen years as Custodian of the Court House. "After I left the CPR, Vern Quesnel and I operated a landscaping business for a couple of years." Brenda started a greenhouse as a hobby, which grew and grew. They enjoyed operating it together for several successful years. He retired from the Court House in 1990. He and Brenda had one son, Martin, and a daughter, Melanie. Carl died on February 9, 1993, and is interred in Minnedosa Cemetery.

He received the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, Defence of Britain Medal, 1939-1945 Star, and War Medal 1939-1945.

Wearer of many hats, I am well diverse when it comes to careers. First off I have been doing Real Estate for almost 5 years. In that time my primary niche has been military members, as I myself am a long serving member of 15 years. I have plenty of experience with relocations & BGRS.

204 Homes is my first team that I have been a part of and I am happy I made the switch. I think our team is well diversified to suit any client's needs.

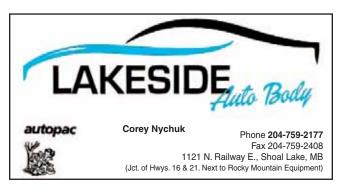

I am a huge foodie. I quite enjoy cooking and dining at new restaurants which our great city has to offer. I was a professional chef with the military for 10 years. In my spare time I pick up the odd catering gig for family or friends. I enjoy sporting events, playing poker and team events.

If you are looking for services our team would love to help you find that perfect fit.
